FUND MANAGER'S REPORT

Philippine equities were hard-pressed to stage a meaningful, sustainable rally as Philippine economic figures were lethargic. First quarter corporate earnings of listed firms were mediocre at best, reflecting the sub-par 1Q2025 GDP growth rate of just 5.4%. And because of the trend of a weakening peso, it was not surprising that foreign funds recorded net foreign selling of over P13 billion in the first half of the year. Although the local bourse managed to register a modest gain in the second quarter, the momentum is not sustainable especially with all the uncertainty that the Trump tariffs bring with it.

Still, one good thing about Philippine stocks right now is their extremely cheap valuations. The market is very near the trough at current levels. Hence, further downside is very limited while potential upside could possibly serve a surprise if the fatalistic views on the Trump tariffs don't actually pan out. Also, the anticipated stronger economic performance of the country in the second quarter vs prior, could serve as a catalysts in propelling the market up.

VIEW STRATEGY

It is still a trader's market where neither a prolonged market upside nor downside is likely to happen. The most sensible strategy is still to buy or average down on weakness and sell on strength. Accumulate badly battered but fundamentally sound stocks with good growth prospects below the 6,300 level. Wait for the second quarter GDP growth figure (est. 5.8%) and sell when the market rallies on this.

ABOUT THE LANDBANK EQUITY FUND'S BENCHMARK

The Weighted Average Percentage change in the following indices:

- a. Philippine Stock Exchange Index (PSEi) 95% and
- b. 1-month BVAL 5%

However, this should not be construed as a guarantee of yield.

Description of the Benchmark

The Philippine Stock Exchange Index (PSEi) is composed of the 30 blue chip listed firms that are most representative of the cross-section of the Philippine economy. These issues should meet the minimum standards as prescribed by Exchange, such as but not limited to, the value of the company, free float level of listed shares, and liquidity in terms of daily trading or value turnover.

The 1-month BVAL is the front-end of the Philippine yield curve which reflects the current yield for a 30-day fixed-income security.

Key Characteristics

The Philippine Stock Exchange Composite Index (PSEi), is a fixed basket of thirty (30) common stocks of listed companies, carefully selected to represent the general movement of the stock market. In other words, it is the benchmark measuring the performance of the Philippine stock market.

The 1-month BVAL reflects the current yield on the 30-day fixed income security.

Relation of the benchmark to the fund's objectives/investment strategies

The fund is designed for sophisticated investors with a high-risk appetite. It invested mostly in shares listed on the Philippine Stock Exchange with the objective of at least having a return at par with the PSEi.

To manage liquidity risk, the fund lodges 5% of net assets in 30-day placements. As such, the weighted average return of the PSEi (95%) and the 1-month BVAL (5%) is the most appropriate composite benchmark for the fund's performance.
